WILL DEDICATE CHURCH WITH SPECIAL SERVICES

Italian Christian Church of the Apostolic Faith to Be Opened

STRUCTURE COMPLETED

The doors of the Italian Christian Church of the Apostolic Faith, which structure was but recently completed, will be open to the public on Wednesday, May 30th.

The opening week will be marked by special services, sessions being conducted at 10 a. m. and at 7.30 p. m. The public has been invited to attend these meetings, and likewise to inspect the new church building, which is located at the corner of Wood and Walnut streets.

The new structure, which replaces a small wooden building located on the same plot, is of brick construction, and the work of building has been carried on since last July. The interest of the membership was shown by the fact that some months ago a portion of the work was done at night-time with the aid of electric lights. The new building is a decided improvement to the locality.

The structure, which measures 35 by 65 feet, is of red brick, located on the northwest corner of Wood and Walnut streets. The main floor houses a large auditorium, in which section a pulpit will be built later at the end opposite the Walnut street side. The main entrance to the edifice is on the Walnut street portion, the main door leading into a small vestibule. From steps leading up from the Wood street sidewalk, one enters a commodious open porch, this leading directly into the auditorium.

The walls on the interior of the street floor are finished in a special plaster, which is a splendid imitation of marble. This is finished in a light color. Twelve large windows are about the structure, these being of Florentine glass.

The basement of the structure consists of one large room, where Sunday School sessions will be held. It is thought that probably at a later date this will be divided into smaller class rooms.

While the new structure has been in the course of erection the congregation has been conducting services in a room of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Mulberry street, each Sunday afternoon. The pastor of the Apostolic Church here is Quirino Grilli, who has been ministering to the members here for six years. Mr. Grilli stated today that the church membership of the Apostolic Faith here numbers approximately 100.

ATHLETES OF THREE HIGH SCHOOLS COMPETE ON TRACK AND FIELD IN FIRST ANNUAL MEET; "PORKY" EARLLE SETS A NEW POLE VAULT RECORD

Slatoff, Spadaccino and C. Mather Make Excellent Showings in Contest on High School Campus — Records Are to Be Preserved Until Surpassed — Much Interest Shown in the Contests.

By T. M. Juno

The Bristol High School interscholastic track meet marked the first of what is to be an annual event in the sports catalogue of Bristol High School. Not all of the teams invited participated in the meet, thus making it a triangular affair.

Bristol, Langhorne and Yardley were the contesting teams. Slatoff, of Bristol, displayed fine form in the 220 yard dash and Spadaccino in the 100 yard dash. Considering the condition of the track the times were good.

C. Mather, of Langhorne, won the discus throw, with F. Still, of Bristol, second. It is to be noted that before Monday Still never threw a discus. "Porky" Earlle, of Bristol, set a new pole vault record for Bristol High, the height being 9 feet 10 inches.

It is understood that since this meet is to become an annual event, the results will be kept and recorded by the school, either to stand or be broken, as on any time can tell.

TIN SHORTAGE POSSIBLE

The general public has little idea of the part tin plays in daily life. Tin is essential to all high-speed machinery. Without it the automobile would hardly be possible. From the tube of tooth paste which is squeezed in the morning to the bed springs upon which one reclines at night, tin enters many times every day into the lives of all.

During the past six years the demand for tin has doubled, whereas production has increased only 15 percent. Production has reached its limit, according to experts, and the world faces the necessity of having to conserve its supply.

As the supply decreases and the demand grows, both of which are inevitable, the price will increase, and the United States as the largest consumer of tin will pay the largest share of the bill. Already it has been proposed to fix the price of the metal on the basis of the highest production costs. This would decrease the output, but would also affect the cost of many products.

Unless cheap substitutes are found, the time is probably close at hand when there will be a premium on used tin cans, empty tooth paste tubes and other articles in the making of which tin plays a part. It has long seemed wanton waste to consign such tremendous quantities of metal to public dumps after such a brief period of usefulness as is usually the lot of the tin can and tube containing toilet preparations.

One happy prospect presented by the shortage of tin is that picnic parties and tourist-campers will find it profitable to save the cans instead of littering the landscape with them.

SIMPLIFYING THE CENSUS

For future federal censuses the house committee on the census recommends that congress leave to the discretion of the census director the questions to be asked by enumerators and that there be a considerable diminution in the number of questions. Both suggestions have merit.

Too many useless statistics have been compiled in former censuses. When the 1920 census was taken there were twenty-nine columns in which enumerators had to make entries. Perhaps half that number would have been enough.

The standard questions on age, sex, nativity, marital state and occupation are essential and the government may have some real need for accurate statistics relating to such fields as agriculture, irrigation, drainage, industry and distribution. But farther than this the census law and bureau should not go. It is certain that in the taking of the next census there will not be asked, as there was in at least one former census, questions of so personal and private a nature that many people felt justified in flatly refusing to answer them.

Congress and the census bureau should not apply their genius to thinking up new census questions, but to discovering ways and means of expediting analysis and publication of census figures. It is not unknown for the census data to be wholly out of date and useless by the time it has been analyzed and published.

YOUR SNEEZE MAY NOT BE FROM COLD

Draft May Have Nothing to Do With the Matter—Million Particles.

WHEN you sneeze it is not always a sign you are taking cold. That is the opinion of physicians working on public health problems in the last few years. Most men and women when they feel that tickling in the nose or throat immediately look for the nearest door or window, convinced that they are sitting in a draft.

However, the draft, if there is one, may have nothing to do with the matter at all, physicians say. The unhappy one merely has inhaled a few million or so dust particles.

That may be true particularly of our cities where enough dust floats in the atmosphere in one year to build a cone-shaped mountain 1,500 feet high, with a five-mile diameter.

Some statisticians have figured it out that if all the dust that hovers above American cities were gathered in one place, say Manhattan Island, that dust would be piled up on the streets of Manhattan to the depth of 21 feet.

But one is likely to sneeze while walking along a country road, though not quite as likely as in the city. Here the dust that is raised usually comes from dirt or gravel roads. There is, however, less likelihood of this today than ever before as highway officials now have at their command many methods for "binding" the top cover, particularly the use of such chemicals as calcium chloride, considered by engineers the best of dust layers.

DURANT

Continues to break all records in production and sales

September was the greatest September in the history of the mammoth main plant at Elizabeth, N. J. October surpassed September. September, October and November surpassed any three corresponding months.

Then came the new Durant models and—

March, 1928, with 9661 cars passed the highest previous record by 20 per cent or 61 cars per day more. April with 11,012 cars passed March by 13.3 per cent or 54 cars per day more.

March and April combined surpassed any two previous consecutive months by 46.5 per cent.

And right now there are more orders for immediate delivery on the Company's books than at any time in its history, necessitating an increase of 20% for May and immediate construction of a $750,000 extension to the great plant at Lansing, Mich.

A total of 15,772 Durant automobiles were built in Durant plants during April

The REO

is not a racing car but

it's fast enough for Pete De Paolo

AUTOMOBILE racing has its place in the scheme of things, no doubt.

To the grueling tests of the Speedway—at Culver City, at Indianapolis, at the Monza Grand Prix—is due a large part of present-day automobile design. But racing speed is for the Speedway—not for the public highway.

That's why the Flying Cloud is not built to do "100 miles an hour." It's why we don't even claim 100 miles an hour.

It will do more than 75 miles an hour—75 honest miles. And that's fast enough. It's faster than the average driver ever wants to go. And it's faster than the average driver ever has safe and lawful opportunity to drive.

But the possession of that 75-miles-per-hour capacity implies the possession of other characteristics that the average driver does want—the flashing acceleration that gets him away from the traffic-barrier ahead of the pack; the "zoom" that picks up the traffic pockets with incredible ease and with perfect safety; and the man-saving and motor-saving surplus of power for the hills and the mountains.

That's why Pete De Paolo, speed-king of America, bought a Flying Cloud for his own use—when he's not burning up the bricks at Indianapolis; that's why he joined the Reo sales forces in Southern California and is making a great sales record—and hosts of new friends—in that toughest of all markets.

It's why he asked—and received—permission to christen his world's champion race-car—the car that in 1927 carried him to his second world's speedway championship—"Flying Cloud Special." His racing-car is not a Reo Flying Cloud; neither is the Reo Flying Cloud a racing-car.

But they're both thoroughbreds. They're both built to stand out above the rank and file. They're both built to stand the gaff—to "go through," in other words.

The Reo Flying Cloud has received no finer tribute—and it has received many—than Pete De Paolo paid it when he gave its name to his own championship racing-car, and identified himself with the organization that builds it.

aforsaid road, thence along the same by John Brown's land, South 70 degrees West 124 Perches and 3/10 to the place of beginning, CONTAINING 65 acres and 126 Perches of land.

That the above described Mortgage was a lien upon and covered a part of the premises of the petitioner, Alfred H. That the above named petitioners together were all the owners in fee simple of the land bound by the lien of the above described Mortgage.

That the said Mortgage has never been assigned.

That the said Mortgage remains unsatisfied of record, but by reason of the lapse of time there exists a legal presumption that the said Mortgage is paid.

That David Swain, the legal holder of said Mortgage, has been long since deceased; that the petitioners do not know the names or addresses of his personal representatives nor the heirs of said decedent, if any there are or may be, and have been unable to ascertain the same.

Whereupon, on the same day, the said Court ordered and decreed that T. said parties cannot be found in said County, then the Sheriff is directed to give public notice of the facts in said petition set forth in "The Bristol Courier," a daily newspaper published within the County of Bucks, once a week for four weeks successively prior to the then next Term of said Court, to be holden at Doylestown, in and for the County of Bucks, on June 11th, A. D. 1928, requiring all of said parties to be and appear at said Term of said Court, at eleven o'clock A. M., on June 11th, A. D. 1928, to answer said petition and show cause, if any they may have, why satisfaction of the said Mortgage should not be decreed by said Court.
